

CarboMet

Metrology of Carbohydrates of Enabling European Bioindustries Newsletter July 2018

CarboMet publishes a positioning paper

'Targeting Antimicrobial Resistance with Carbohydrate-Based Vaccines' is available to read here. This summarises discussions that took place during a one day workshop on Polysaccharide Based Vaccines on Monday 12th March 2018 in Milan attended by 30 delegates from academia and industry.

Glyco@Alps Meeting

The CarboMet Project Coordination team participated in a Glyco@Alps meeting that took place at CERMAV, Grenoble on 31st May 2018. To find out more about the Glyco@Alps initiative you can visit the website here.

CarboMet Workshop 'The Role of Carbohydrates in the Gut Microbiome

This two day workshop on took place on Thursday 7th and Friday 8th June 2018 in Brussels and was attended by 40 delegates from academia and industry. The objective of the workshop was to formulate a positioning paper on The Role of Carbohydrates in the Gut Microbiome.

Latest EU funding opportunities

Visit the CarboMet website funding page here.

Next CarboMet Workshop

We are planning a workshop on glycomaterials to take place in October 2018, France. Contact claire.doherty@manchester.ac.uk for more information.